Category:MacOS softwareIon-molecule complex-guided fluorescent metal-organic framework nanoparticles for targeted imaging and combined chemotherapy. Exploring the charge transport in the interior of metal-organic frameworks (MOFs) could be an effective approach to tailoring their optical properties. A mixed pyridine and piperidine unit-containing terephthalate functionalized MOF (terpy) has been designed and synthesized with the metal ion of $Zn(terpy)(2))(2)$ as the building block. The terpy has a high charge-transport mobility and keeps all the pores accessible for guest molecules. The pyridine and piperidine functionalization induced a size distribution of spherical nanoparticles with a high photoluminescence quantum yield (65%) and a specific upconversion emission of the nanomaterials. The terpy modified nanoparticles were utilized to enhance the photoluminescence of Au nanorods, with upconversion and surface charge-transfer processes, providing dual-mode imaging of cells and tissues. By covalently connecting two (terpy)MOFs with sulfonate-terminated poly-L-lysine (PLL), it was achieved to perform combined photodynamic therapy (PDT) and chemotherapy of cancer cells. The strong acidic conditions inside the tumor tissue could facilitate the release of the loaded drug from the functionalized MOFs to the interior of cancer cells, and the generation of reactive oxygen species (ROS) during the PDT process could inactivate the cancer cells, causing their death.Coloring Book Coloring Book is the tenth studio album by American singer-songwriter John Mayer.
